

AIA College of Fellows

Region of the Virginias

Class of 2024

Michelle Amt, FAIA VMD0 Architects
In her projects, practice, and advocacy, Michelle unites design, sustainability and system-wide transformation to create a thriving future for all.

Bruce Wardell, FAIA BRW Architects
Bruce changes what people expect from architects by reversing historical power relationships in underserved communities; challenging architects to turn civic values into action; and amplifying the impact of nonprofits and ministries through design.

Congratulations Class of 2024!

We celebrate each of you for the exceptional contributions through your work and your professional achievements. Thank you for the significant contributions you have made to the profession and to society.

Thank You

We are grateful to our Fellows Fête sponsors. Thank you Pella Virginia for continuing your loyal sponsorship. We warmly welcome Sonite Surfaces as a new sponsor.

AIA 24

Conference on Architecture & Design, June 5-8, Washington, D.C.
Renew, network, be inspired and celebrate our new Fellows
<https://conferenceonarchitecture.com/>

Edward Ford, FAIA Architect-Author
Through books, articles and teaching Edward has explored how design informs construction and how construction informs design as evidenced by the use of his texts on detailing in schools and offices throughout the world.

Mel Price, FAIA Work Program Architects
Mel is changing the profession with a business model based on transparency and resilience. Success is measured by social consciousness, economic success, and coastal resilience, the design parti of a healthy firm and community.

Fellows Fête 2024

We celebrated our new Fellows on March at the Barboursville Winery.

We celebrated Paula Loomis for receiving the National AIA Award for Excellence in Public Architecture.

We were joined by Luca Paschinas, Barboursville's winemaker since 1990, a third generation winemaker from Piedmont, Italy. Luca inspired us with his personal story, the history of the property and the architecture, and the many accolades and awards for his wines.

We had a wonderful time with friends, old and new. If you missed this year, we hope you can join in 2025!

